A Field trip to the Willamette Heritage Center is a fun and interactive way to engage students in the history and cultural heritage of our region outside of the classroom. Step back in time inside two of oldest framed homes in the Pacific Northwest or see the industrial revolution through the stories of millworkers and machinery at the Thomas Kay Woolen Mill. Students can also make their own history in one of our hands-on history lessons taught by our knowledgeable museum educators and docents. See our three different field trip experiences for more details.

Field Trip Experiences and Pricing

Field Trip pricing is dependent on school group size (see table below). The Willamette Heritage Center values the role that teachers and chaperones play on field trip days that make these educational experiences fun for all. Teachers and chaperones that accompany school groups all receive free admission, and we encourage as many to attend as possible.
